IN SLUMBERLAND.

Where is the road to Slumberland?
Just rest our cheek upon your hand.
And press your pillow hard and say:
Good night to all the world of day!
Breathe deep, and presto! you will stand Upon the shores of Slumberland.

All sounds are songs in Slumberland—The rhyme of waves upon the sand, The whispering boughs, the droning breese,
And dreams are blossoming on the trees;
They only wait your gathering hand, Wee visitor to Slumberland.

And all you meet in Slumberland Obedient and expectant stand; The birds and beasts, the gnomes and elves,
The sun and moon and stars themselves
All wait to heed your least command.
While you are King in Slumberland.

—Burgess Johnson in Harper's Bazar for November.

CANOEING.

A strong stroke, and the boat leaps, and the heart grows merry!
But I think of a little farm old by,
and a dark girl at the ferry.
The sun dies, and a bird cries, and a bright star's gleaming; And I alone in my small boat, with all the night for dreaming.

A strong stroke, and the boat leaps, and the stream swirls under;
And here am I by the small white town, in a sail, hush'd wonder.
Lovers sigh and the leaves sigh—and bright eyes peeping; A boy laughs and a girl laughs*** and ah! who's weeping?

THIEN-TRAYLOR WEDDING ON NOVEMBER NINTH.

Of interest here and in Atlanta is the wedding of Miss Mary Traylor and Mr. Rudolph Thiesen, which is an event of early November, to take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald Traylor, on Saturday evening, November ninth, at half after eight o'clock.

The bride is one of the most attractive of the younger set in her home city, possessing beauty and charm, and the wedding will be one of the most interesting of the many early Fall weddings to take place in Atlanta.

Mr. Thiesen has risen rapidly in his profession and is recognized in the city which he has adopted as his home, and where he and his bride will continue to live, as one of the most able of the younger professional men.

BRILLIANT YOUNG SOUTHERN WOMAN MAKING SUCCESS.

Many Pensacolans as well as members of New Orleans' old and aristocratic families will read with interest of the success of Miss Lucine Finch, who has for years made her home in Birmingham, and is now receiving much merited praise for the fine work she is doing in character recitals in New York and Chicago. A Birmingham exchange has the following to say about the work of Miss Finch:

Miss Lucine Finch, formerly of Birmingham, who has accomplished such brilliant results in her character recitals in New York, and in other large cities of the country, has just issued a very attractive prospectus. An excellent and dramatic picture of this gifted Southern girl adorns the front page of this folder and represents Miss Finch in one of her very effective poses, in telling the most wonderful of her "Mammy Stories." The demands for Miss Finch's unique and delicious recitals has become very widespread and insistent, and she is kept constantly busy in filling her engagements. Among the many tributes paid her genius and accomplishments is the following from James O'Donnell Bennett, of the Chicago Record-Herald, who says in part:

Miss Finch's negro Mammy died in New Orleans a few years ago, having given loyal service to three generations of the Finch family. She had

A DOLLAR A YEAR

Is All Mrs. Campbell Needs to Keep in Good Health Now, According to Her Own Statement.

Moro, Ark.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Anna Campbell says:
"Seven years ago I was in a critical condition—was so weak that I could not get out of bed for four weeks. I was advised to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I bought a bottle.

Before I had taken two-thirds of it, I was not only able to be up, but could do my work.

At times, now, I have headache, backache, and weak trembling spells, but it doesn't take but three or four doses of Cardui to straighten me out, ready for work.

I have been using Cardui for 11 years, but it only takes one bottle a year for me now, and I don't take any other kind of medicine.

I am also giving it to my daughter, and it is doing her all the good in the world.

I would not be without Cardui in my home."

This letter, picked at random from our file of many similar ones, should certainly convince you that Cardui is, at least, entitled to a fair trial, if you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, or merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling.

Cardui has been helping weak women for over half a century. It will help you, too.

Try Cardui.

been sold into bondage from Africa, and used to tell the children, whose nurse she was, that she was an "Alabaster Princess."

This woman had a marvelous gift for narration, a rich though perhaps, unstudied—sense of humor, and a poetic instinct in which the grotesque; the weird, the horrible and the commonplace were strangely mingled. On Sunday evenings she used to tell the children what she called her "illegitimous stories."

Neither to her nor to her small auditors were they funny, though today, as retold by one of the original hearers, they convulse with mirth any assemblage not composed of graven images. The young southern woman, who dresses so simply and has no actress airs, is when you put her before an audience, a character delineator of extraordinary equipment. Saturday evening she held the people to rapt attention for an hour and a half with her retelling of negro folk tales and birdlike caroling of real negro melodies.

Sitting in an old-fashioned arm chair and bending forward in an intimate way, she reeled off story after story in a rich, unctuous tone and with an eloquence of gesticulation that was the best kind of acting, because it was so spontaneous, so appropriate, and so evidently from nature. No jangling piano accompaniment. They floated birdlike as from a clear sky, and such change of attitude and action as accompanied them was intensely dramatic but not extravagant.

ing the four days from November 22 cursions will probably be run from points as distant as Atlanta, Ga., and will be extensively advertised by the company.

PENSACOLA IS DESIGNATED AS PORT OF ENTRY

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT GRANTS REQUEST THAT PORT BE PLACED ON SAME BASIS AS OTHERS REGARDING IMPORTS.

In a letter from Special Deputy Collector Bruce S. Weeks, of the Pensacola Custom House which was received yesterday by Secretary Leland J. Henderson, of the Commercial Association, comes assurance that the department has acted favorably upon the recent petition to make this an immediate sea port for receiving dutiable imports. The letter, written upon treasury department stationery, is as follows:

"Mr. Leland J. Henderson, City.
"Dear Sir—I am returning with thanks of the office some statistics kindly loaned us for the use of the customs agent in charge in preparing his report on the advisability of extending the immediate transportation facilities to this port. I am glad to be able to advise that the report will be favorable.

"Respectfully,
"BRUCE S. WEEKS,
"Special Deputy Collector." It was in August that agitation for the securing to this city of the immediate transportation privilege was begun. It was soon ascertained that any city enjoying that privilege must have authority from Washington under Section 7 of the Act of June 10,

1880, governing the immediate trans- portation of dutiable merchandise without appraisement.

This is to support the laws of the customs service which provide that all merchandise from abroad sent in bond to certain cities for final import must be received only by a duly accredited immediate seaport.
Pensacola will now have the right

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'Amille.

"To darken eyebrows and to make them grow heavier and more even, apply plain pyroxin with the finger tips. Brush them daily and they can be easily trained into well-formed arches. Massage the eyelash roots gently with pyroxin and the lashes will grow long and lovely.
"To remove superfluous hair, cover the surface with a paste made of salicylate and water, permit to remain two minutes, remove and wash the skin with warm water. This treatment is quick, safe and painless.

"Washing the head dulls and streaks the hair. Too much moisture causes the roots to lose their vitality. Dry shampooing cleans the scalp, vitalizes the hair, and leaves it wavy, fluffy and beautifully lustrous. To make a six-month supply of the best shampoo powder, mix four ounces of orris root with a package of genuine theroc.

"For their smooth and satin-like complexions, Japanese women depend upon a lotion made by dissolving a package of maytano in a half-pint of witch hazel.
It removes tan, sunburn and blemishes and prevents the growth of hair. No powder is necessary.
"Cold, catarrh and ordinary cases of sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, etc., yield quickly to applications of Mother's Salve rubbed in well before retiring. The world never saw its equal as a household remedy." (Advertisement.)
